From Food Enthusiast to Food Safety Professional

Synopsis

Ms Angela Li will share how her training helped in her career advancement, and how the Health Sciences Authority’s food safety laboratory complements the Agri-Food & Veterinary Authority of Singapore’s national food safety programme and supports emerging food safety concerns.

Alumna Speaker

Ms Angela Li

Ms Angela Li is the Deputy Laboratory Director in the Food Safety Division (Applied Sciences Group) at the Health Sciences Authority, where she develops analytical testing methods, and leads research and development work to assess food safety. She obtained her B.Appl.Sc. (Hons) in Food Science and Technology from NUS, and her Master’s degree in Chemistry from the University of York.